

POEM: THE WOMAN IN THE MIRROR

She admires the woman in the mirror

Who is she? Where does she harness her courage?

Having conquered all odds of life, she stands bolder than ever before Society tried to define her roles but she chose to rebel, she redefined herself Many have tried to tarnish her image and failed, her crown still remains unchallenged She is life itself, glorify how she gives birth to life

Why can't you appraise her, you celebrate when she fails but silent when she succeeds

Once again, she admires the woman in the mirror

Her remarkable resilience, how she withstands through tough times The woman in the mirror can achieve anything
